Recent Advances in Gastroenterology: Proceedings of Digestive Disease Week-Japan (DDW-Japan '98), April 15-18,1998, Yokohama

Digestive Disease Week-Japan (DDW-Japan) was held successfully in Yokohama April 15-18, 1998, under the management of Prof. Yoshiki Hiki, Chairman of the Steering Committee. DDW-Japan was carried out with the cooperation and participation of gastroenterological societies in Japan. Because the participating congresses each dealt with topics characteristic of particular fields, all participants could enjoy a rewarding experience and could gather relevant, up-to-date information about a wide variety of subjects in basic and clinical medicine. Prof. Rikiya Fujita, Chairman of the International Relations Committee, planned and conducted the International Symposium working together with researchers from foreign countries, thus making DDW Japan in 1998 a great success. The symposium provided a fascinating insight into the global situation, and the papers that were presented are being published in this monograph, Recent Advances in Gastroenterology. As we all know, the world soon is going to enter the third millennium. Therefore, treatments and medicines should not be limited to any single country or small area; instead, medical knowledge must be shared as a global resource, without regard to nationality, way of life, or social system. I hope that this monograph will play a useful role in the development of gastroenterology all over the world, and I very much appreciate the tremendous contribution of all authors for this publication.
